“ Loved "Shoup" so much, whenever he'd come over and hang out with James and the other boys he was so polite and respectful. He would always stop to chat with Rick an I for a bit. When he was last here fishing, we had the chance again to chat. He brightened my day. He will be remembered. So very sorry for the loss.

I remember going into McDonalds after church with with my Jocelyn, Shoups classmate and he would always make a point to wave and smile 😊 Then he and Grandma would come into Bob Evans and I would wait on them and we would chat about college and His Plans.....Such a Great Young Man!! Grandma YOU DID GREAT 😊 It just breaks MY Heart for this family. He is home with Mom and Dad, We should rejoice 😊 The struggles are over for Alex.....He touched So Many in His Young Life..We are Blessed to have known him....

“Sharon and family, my sincerest condolences go to you. I can't fathom all the grief you have had to undergo even though I lost my wife a few months ago. I hope that you are consoled by the fact that Alex is in a better place where there is no pain and suffering. I know that words are feeble at times like this but let me offer you an Indian saying that I came across several years ago: "If there were no tears in your eyes, there would not be any rainbows in your soul." Please know that you are also in my prayers and I pray that God gives you all the faith, hope and strength you need to persevere. -Ken Elchert

“ When Alex was in grade school we had the privilege of having him in children's choir. This precious boy that had suffered so much loss. We were practicing a special song for Mother's day and I noticed that he was upset. I quietly took him to the back away from the other kids and asked him what was wrong. He was crying and he said that he didn't have a mom to sing to. This really broke my heart and wasn't sure what to say but I said "sure you do Alex, she is in Heaven listening". I also told him that we sing this for Grandma's too and his face lit up and he said he could sing it for his Grandma that was like a Mom to him. I remember thinking about both Alex's Grandma and his Mom in Heaven when we sang on Mother's day. I'm very sad for Alex's family that he was taken so soon but I'm glad that he is reunited with his parents in Heaven. Maybe he will sing to her.
