“ Al married a lady I have known most of my life and is like a second mom to me. Although I had known Al for a short time, he quickly became like a second dad. He always had a joke to tell and it tickled me when he laughed. He was very devoted to his grand and great grandchildren and was quick to show me all the pictures on the wall. You could just look at the man and tell he was a good man and he will be surely missed//
