“ I have many wonderful memories of Mae Drexler.

I cherish the memory of when she met Alfred at the 4H county fair. I got to help her with her cows there, and threw a little water at Alfred and his friend. As I walked away from Al I saw him filling a bucket of water and then running after me and Mae. I ran out of the barn, locked myself in her Mother's car and yelled and motioned for Mae to come get in the car with me...she didn't see Alfred coming and was confused as to why I would stay in that hot car. When Alfred got to where Mae was standing, realized I was not getting out of the car, so he turned around to Mae and dumped the whole bucket of water on her head. She got so hot mad that she jumped up and pounded him up and down on his chest. That was when we were about 16 years old.

That was the beginning.....What started out as horseplay, became love that has lasted all these years.

Mae was a hard working, loving, and very loyal person. She always loved Alfred and did her best to let him know how important he was to her.
