Raymond Daniel "Dan" Vorhees, 67, of Wapakoneta passed away 10:25 PM on Saturday evening, April 20 at Kindred Hospital in Lima surrounded by family. Raymond Daniel was born on May 8, 1951 to Raymond Charles "Bud" Vorhees and Hildred (Liesner) Vorhees. He graduated from Wapakoneta Senior High School in 1970 and from Ohio State Barber College where he met Cora Kiefer who was studying Cosmetology. On June 9, 1973 they were married.

Raymond Daniel was preceded in death by his wife Cora on May 27, 1994, his parents Bud and Hildy and his sister Donna (Vorhees) Varner, nephew Curtis Varner, and great nephew Corey Hogue.

Raymond Daniel, a Master Barber, opened a beauty shop in Wapak with his wife in the 1980s, The Trend Setters. He also owned and operated Ray's Barber Shop in New Knoxville. For a few years, he worked as an Auglaize County Deputy. After twenty years, he retired from Crown in New Bremen. He enjoyed a lifetime of hunting, trapping, fishing, shooting, camping, and training hunting dogs. As an avid collector, he enjoyed the art of trading and bartering. Raymond Daniel loved spending time with his grandchildren and sharing laughter with his family and friends. He loved meeting friends at Lucky Steer and sitting on his porch waving to the neighbors with his beloved pet parrot, a blue and gold macaw named Zeus. Raymond Daniel was a member of the Prime Time Vanners and also attended Wapakoneta Community Worship Center.

Before his passing, Raymond expressed his sincere gratitude for the years of care from the nurses at St. Ritas and LMH Cancer Center. “ My husband, Charlie and I have known Ray and Cori for more than 21 years. They were such a strong couple..you could feel the love they had for each other. When God took Cori from Ray, it took a piece of Ray with it. It was very hard for our friend to continue on. God blessed Ray and Cori with four beautiful daughters. Tracy, Kelly, Jamie, and of course, Kimmy. They are what kept Ray going. His love for his children..He loved them very much, and always will. He never could talk about his girls without his big smile all over his face, or his contagious laugh....and the Pride in his eyes. He was always looking for something to do..get into...with all of us. It was like," H-mmm I wonder what's going on over there"?..let's go check it out.."let's go see",It was always good though. Ray always reminded me of a big, friendly, dancing bear. Oh yeah, He had some moves for sure. Cori always loved that. When Ray was around, you felt loved, protected, and safe. These last years were so hard for him. His health was declining. I know how he had to feel on the inside, but, there he was with that big smile on his face for everyone else. He was one hell of a brave man, never complaining. Bless his heart. This past Saturday 4/20. I heard from Kimmy, he wasn't doing good. He was then on morphine, and not aware. He was on my mind all night. I said my usual prayer for him. That night I was so blessed. I had a dream about our Cori. First time since we lost her. She looked the same, very happy, smiling...I kept asking her, " are you going to be able to stay..or do you have to go again"?? Finally she said in her mild voice," I'm gonna stay." Up walked Ray. He looked like he did 20 years ago. Never said a word. There was that giant smile on his face. So happy and loving, and warm and refreshed. When I got up Sunday. I felt happy and calm because I saw our Cori, I heard her beautiful voice. Then Charlie told me Kimmy had messaged me saying,"Dad is with Mom now". I felt sad for a few minutes. Then I felt so happy. Ray and his love Cori are together again. They came to let us all know....they are here with us, together, forever in eternity, watching over their beautiful daughters and Grandchildren....Ray, years ago I gave you the name, RayBob....you returned the blessing calling me, BeckyBob. I'll always treasure that as silly as it sounds. Ray, I will never, ever forget you big man. So happy your with your true love again, throughout eternity. We will always love you, Ray and Cori
