“ Jackie and family,
My condolences to you all. Though I didn't know Dick well, I feel I knew a bit about him because of my involvement with Jackie through Yoga at the Y. I do remember that you, Jackie, showed up during our annual Christmas Yoga party and dragged Dick into the house and down the basement to listen to my husband, Buff, play his guitar as was his custom at the Yoga Party. He so enjoyed the music and seemed glad to be a part of the festivities. Dick's quality of life was so enhanced by your strength and commitment. I am truly sorry for your loss.

“ Condolences to the entire McCormick family for their loss of Dick. When mom and dad moved to Wapak after 60 years on the farm, it was especially rough on Dad. Dick was the first one to come across the street and welcome them into their new home. I was there and it did make a real difference.

A couple of summers ago the wind picked up mom's umbrella from the porch and placed it on the roof of her condo. She asked me to look for it and I thought someone stole it. As I was leaving, Dick was tinkering in the garage, and he asked with a huge grin: "Can I have an umbrella on the roof of my condo also?" I had no idea what he was talking about until I looked up!! I actually borrowed his ladder to retrieve the umbrella. Both he and I never forgot that event.

The McCormick's were such great neighbors to my parents for many reasons. Special thanks. We will miss that great grin of Dick's, as I'm sure you will.
