“ Lynn I remember the day your mom announced she was pregnant with Travis. Since I moved away from San Diego shortly after, I did not get to know Travis. But my heart is broken for you, Bobby, your Mom and Dad and the rest of the family. I have always felt a part of your family. I love you all so much.

“ 💔😞 Travis was my best buddy growing up...He would come down to my house almost everyday on his dirt bike and pick me up. I would tell my mom I was only going down to his house...then we would go get his other bike and we would both ride to the moon museum and ride for hours. He taught me how to survive a mosh pit and the lyrics to Slayer and Sepultura. We would sit at his house for hours while Bob Schwer would entertain us with crazy ideas 😬 He was the kind of friend anyone was lucky to have. It was Shyla and Travis and 2 fast dirt bikes. Forever in my heart my friend Love ya dude 🙌

“ I had the distinct pleasure and honor to have served with Travis in the Navy. "O'Neal" as we called him was larger than life, always had a smile on his face and was willing to help anyone at anytime. He was a friend to everyone. No words can describe how sorry I am for your loss. Please accept my deepest sympathy.

Love you Sailor

“ Uncle Travis. You're the best uncle I have ever had. You cared so much for all your family and friends. You would give the shirt off your back to anyone. Your biggest flaw/gift was putting everyone before yourself. I love and miss you so much.
